

Hot pink dress, $435, and embellished belt, $189, both from Raoul.

Long jacket, price on application, from Anteprima.

Traction Balboa frames, $324, from Lens Men.

futurama mama

Enter this time capsule for a peek into the future of fashion today by Tan Lili

You don't need to be a daring fashionista or a runway model to pull off the look of a cyber goddess – the futuristic trend this season can be made wearable with these style tips.

Space Odyssey While going metallic is a key sci-fi hit, getting dressed in blinding shades from head to toe like this model in Blumarine isn't feasible off the catwalk. Instead, marry an elegant black dress with a pair of funky metallic shoes from Shu Boutique, and accessorize with chunky golds or silvers such as the "I Trust Me" bangle from Poh Heng Jewellery. Make a deep impact by toting the future of communications – the Blackberry Pearl 8120 – in an out-of-this-world Caleido Scopio bag from Anteprima.

Geometry Play Sharp edges and odd shapes rule in Versace's latest collection. But to avoid looking like a cast member from Star Trek, stick to softer cuts like this hot pink dress and waist-cinching bejewelled belt, both from Raoul. Alternatively, pair a simple tunic top with this dramatic red leather belt from Chanel if you're feeling provocative. Bored of the same old pair of black-rimmed glasses? Get the chic and cheeky frames from Lens Men for a stylish change.

Fashion Forward If you're not a fan of bling or geometric shapes, cover up in an equally modish jacket from Anteprima or a pair of high-waisted pants from Raoul. What's the future of luxury brands such as Prada and Gucci going to be like? Read all about it in Deluxe – an intriguing book that reckons luxury is fading fast – on a fabulously futuristic Lamborghini F430-inspired Flamboient chair as we celebrate the rocket science fusion of fashion and the space age. W

Red leather belt, $990, from Chanel.

Flamboient chair, from $4,800, available at Anthony Furnishen furniture boutique.

Deluxe by Dana Thomas, $55, available at all major bookstores.

Caleido Scopio bag, $539, from Anteprima.

Blumarine Spring/Summer 2008

Versace Spring/Summer 2008

Metallic shoes with polka dots, $69, from Shu Boutique.

"I Trust Me" chunky bangle, price on application, from Poh Heng Jewellery.

Blackberry Pearl 8120, from $98, available at authorised phone retailers.

Photography by Getty Images, Chanel, Blumarine, Poh Heng Jewellery, Lens Men and Italian Marquee